

Moscow is not a destination reached by any ocean Cruise Lines. However, while on a Baltic cruise you have a chance to spend a full day exploring Red Square, the Kremlin and other Moscow highlights. What an opportunity!

When will you ever be so close to Moscow again?

Our representative will meet and greet you in the St. Petersburg terminal, holding a sign "Tour De Force". Then you will be transferred to the airport. After a flight (1.5 hours) meet your personal local Moscow guide who will assist you to the express train followed by a relaxing (1h) ride as you make your way to downtown Moscow.

On your arrival in Moscow begin your exploration of the city. Stroll through the legendary Red Square, the site of many marches and celebrations during Communist era, and the famous GUM department store, watch the changing of the guard, admire the magnificent St. Basil's Cathedral, pass through Lubyanka Square and the headquarters of the former KGB. Learn about an architectural style dubbed «Stalin Gothic» and the skyscrapers known as «Seven Sisters» recognizable by their tapered towers. Architecturally, Moscow ranges from Russian 17th century onion-shaped churches to American-style skyscrapers from the 1930s.

Proceed to the Kremlin, Russia's mighty political powerhouse, the seat of the Russian President. During the guided walk through the grounds of the Kremlin you will see government buildings, gold-domed cathedrals and the Tsar's bell – the largest bell that never rang!

Within the 15th century Kremlin fortress, you will visit the stunning Byzantine-style Assumption Cathedral, the oldest and the most important church in the Kremlin where tsars were selected and crowned, decrees were read and solemn events celebrated.

Explore the opulent collection at the Armory museum that contains Russian treasures including court regalia, jewelry, coronation gowns, armor, golden carriages, and some of the fabulous Easter eggs created for the Tsars by Faberge.

Take a walk around the recently open Zaryadye park located by the Moscow river, just a stone's throw from Red Square and Kremlin. Its landscape, the floating bridge, and numerous attractions will not leave you indifferent. You will also take a ride on the underground and see the Moscow Metro stations that were built during Stalin's rule as «palaces for the people». The decoration of the stations takes everyone by surprise: mosaics and statues, stained glass panels and chandeliers. After the exciting metro ride, board a high-speed train and travel through the Russian countryside for the approximate four hours ride into St. Petersburg. Food is served onboard at an additional cost. Upon arrival in St. Petersburg you will be met at the train station and transferred to the ship.

Important: This trip to Moscow is operated on Day 1 and only for cruise ships arriving not later than at 7 am and staying in St. Petersburg not less than 2 days.
